Leadership Palm Beach County Participants Give Back to the Community

Members of the Leadership Palm Beach County Class of 2005 recently refurbished an apartment at a battered women's shelter in Palm Beach County. The Class will refurbish seven additional apartments over the next three months as part of their commitment to the community through shared leadership.

Leadership Palm Beach County's Adult Program is an interactive community leadership development program, designed to provide participants with a foundation for life-long commitment to effective leadership. Delivered over a ten-month period, the thought-provoking curriculum provides leadership capacity-building skills, framed around countywide issues. Graduates can then join the Alumni Association in order to continue their life-long commitment to the program and to stay connected and encourage their colleagues to take part in this unique education experience.

Each year, a select group of persons residing or working in Palm Beach County is exposed to the social, economic, and political issues facing the county. Experiential knowledge is provided via lectures, site visits, discussions, simulations, and other leadership development activities. Discussions with key community leaders uncover the factors affecting critical decision-making on the future of our county.

The group thoroughly cleaned the apartment, repaired damaged walls and repaired a screened porch. Once the apartment was cleared and the walls repaired, the team attacked the task of painting the entire three bedroom space using several complimentary colors. Class members added a chair rail in the living room to enhance the new paint colors. In one short weekend the LPBC Class of 2005 gave this Harmony House apartment an "Extreme Makeover". The results were amazing as the team transformed the apartment into a warm inviting space.

John Southard - suited up ready to paint the ceilings.

Elena Contreras takes notes as Jon Swergold measures the wall for the chair rail. The apartment is prepped and ready for painting with the fixtures and windows taped and a tarp covering the floor.
